• Learn to count to 10 in a different language.

• Find out more about a famous landmark and design a travel poster encouraging people to visit.

• If you made a list of goals to make our world a better place, what would be on it? Ending poverty? Tackling climate change? Achieving gender equality? What would be your priorities and why?

• Martin Luther King famously once said “Before you finish eating breakfast in the morning you’ve depended on more than half the world”. Find out where in the world the food in your kitchen cupboards has come from. Can you work out how many miles it has travelled to get to you? How is it farmed or produced? Perhaps you can create a collage using packets and a map to show what you have found out. Was Martin Luther King right?

• What is the difference between ‘need’ and ‘want’? What do you need and what do you want? What do you think you could not do without? Do you think this is the same for all children across the world? Create a Venn Diagram to show your ideas in words and/or pictures.

• Read a story that is set in a place different to where you live. Compare the two places. What is the same? Create a piece of art that shows the similarities and differences.

• Find out about a festival that is celebrated somewhere across the world. Make a decoration that would help celebrate this festival.

• Draw a family tree for our royal family.

• Use a piece of art that is typical of a different culture to your own and try to copy it (Rangoli pattern, African pattern, Aboriginal art, Adi Tribe weaving)

• Write a letter that describes your life. Imagine someone in a different country was going to read it? What do you think they might like to find out about you and your life?
